WELCOME

With the changing names of the leagues in 1992 and 2004 we refer to the levels of the leagues by their current names, for example Sunderland won the equivalent of what is now 'The Championship' in 1976 when back then it was called The Second Division.

Top-flight Champions: 1892, 1893, 1895, 1902, 1913 & 1936

'Championship' Winners: 1976, 1996, 1999, 2005, 2007

'League One' Winners: 1988

FA Cup Winners: 1937 & 1973

Top-flight runners Up: 1894, 1898, 1901, 1923 & 1935

'Championship' Runners Up: 1964 & 1980 (Promoted: 1990)

FA Cup finalists: 1913 & 1992

League Cup Finalists: 1985

TONIGHT'S GAME

Welcome to tonight's FA Cup with Budweiser Third Round replay with Bolton Wanderers, where the prize is a home tie with Everton on 26th January.

Tonight's game must have a winner even if it takes extra-time and penalties.

The original tie at The Reebok Stadium of 5th January was drawn 2-2. Sunderland have a good record against Bolton in this competition as seen in the table to the right:

GUESS THE GATE

Around 20-25,000 are expected at tonight's game including an expected 500 visiting supporters.

GOAL CHART

Sunderland kick-off today with the current squad having a total of 18 goals to their name against Bolton Wanderers in all competitions.

Bolton were the opposition when Adam Johnson scored the first goal of his career in a 1-1 draw at The Reebok for Boro in May 2006.

Louis Saha has scored against Bolton for four different teams including the most recent goal of his career. That came for Spurs in the FA Cup last season in the replayed game following the unhappy circumstances of the original tie when Fabrice Muamba suffered a serious heart problem.

NOT AVAILABLE

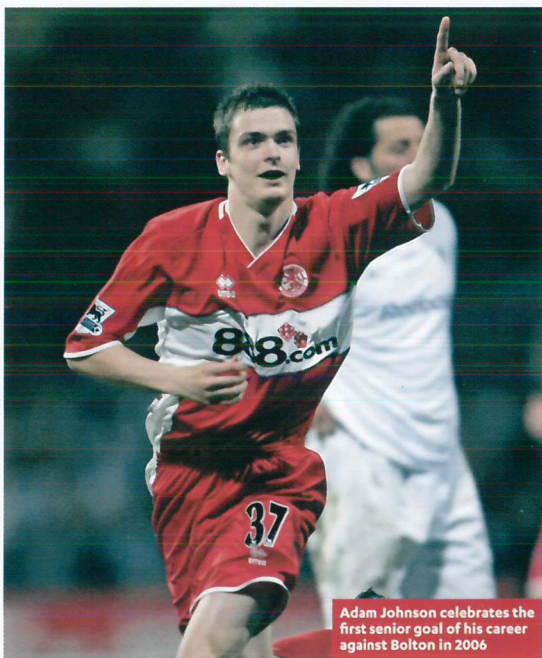

Alfred N'Diaye burst on to the scene, almost scoring with his first touch after coming on as a late substitute on Saturday. Alfred is ineligible for this evening's game as he was not registered before the original tie was played.

Stratton is Red and White's crossword compiler. Try the crossword on page 44.

All 23 clubs who have been League Champions have also won the FA Cup at least once. Of the League clubs that have not been champions, Bolton have won the FA Cup most often (four times) followed by West Ham with three.

AWAY FANS' ROUTE HOME

Thank you to all of the fans in the visitors' section who have travelled to the north east to support their team. We hope you enjoy your day on Wearside - apart from the result of course - and wish you a safe journey home. If travelling by car: to get from the stadium back on to the A19 (which leads onto the A1 via the A690) you need to:

- 1) Turn left coming out of the stadium at the roundabout by the Colliery Inn, just past the miners' lamp you'll see outside the Sunderland ticket office.
- 2) Travel along this road which is Keir Hardie Way.
- 3) Go straight on at all traffic lights until you reach the A19. You'll pass a big petrol station and shop on your right before reaching the A19.

WELCOME BACK

28th APRIL 2012, SUNDERLAND 2-2 BOLTON WANDERERS

Goals from Sunderland duo Nicklas Bendtner and James McClean failed to secure victory over a dogged and determined Bolton side.

The Black Cats fell behind to a goal from excellent Bolton skipper Kevin Davies, who volleyed past Craig Gordon only for Sunderland to restore parity from on-loan Danish striker Bendtner.

James McClean's superb second-half free-kick gave Martin O'Neill's men the lead but Bolton hit back through Davies to earn the Trotters a point.

The result left Sunderland in 11th place.

MARTIN O'NEILL

HEAR THE MANAGER POST-MATCH WITH RED AND WHITE LIVE

About 90 minutes after the final whistle we aim to bring you Martin O'Neill's post-match press conference so you can see and hear what the manager thinks after the game as well as before it.

In order to do this you'll need a smart phone or tablet which you can use to reveal this video content as part of Red and White.

You'll need to download the Aurasma Lite app to your device. Aurasma currently works on iPhone 4, iPhone 4S, iPad2, iPad3 and more powerful android devices. Having downloaded the app, hold your phone over the blue A on the photo of Martin O'Neill and from approximately an hour and a half after the final whistle hopefully you'll see the manager's post-match thoughts.

In Saturday's victory against West Ham we started strongly and most importantly sustained momentum for very long periods of the game.

Seb Larsson scored a magnificent goal quite early on to give us the lead but even before his strike we could have been in front so dominant had we been. Adam Johnson made it 2-0 just after half-time when he was quick to react to some West Ham hesitancy after their goalkeeper had made a big save from James McClean and James himself added a third after great play by Stephane Sessegnon.

Needing to fight back into the game West Ham came forward but when they did carve out an opening Simon Mignolet produced a great save to deny Ricardo Vaz Te and protect the clean sheet. It was the sort of save that we have come to expect from Simon who has been named the North East Football Writers' Player of the Year for 2012. It is an accolade he richly deserves.

All in all it was a terrific team performance and hopefully a platform on

David Vaughan played exceptionally well on Saturday

Middlesbrough, taking on a side from the Championship is still a difficult proposition. That is the nature of cup football. We enjoyed a decent run last year and would like to do so again so we will be trying our utmost to come through tonight's game.

We had a few players receiving treatment after Saturday's game so at this stage I do not know which players will be available for selection this evening other than we are unable to call upon Alfred N'Diaye as he was not signed until after the original meeting with Bolton.

Alfred has given everyone a lift by his very presence and we were able to give him a first taste of English football in the latter stages of Saturday's game. He is a young player eager to impress and in due course I expect him to be a real asset to the club. We are endeavouring to further bolster the squad before the end of January but for the moment all our attention is focussed on tonight's match.

Thank you for your support.

Martin O'Neill

which to build. Alfred N'Diaye came on to a rousing reception from the supporters and just missed a goal with his very first touch, that indeed would have been some introduction.

I know it was very difficult to single out any player but I thought David Vaughan played exceptionally well, indeed he had done for long periods in the cup match at The Reebok Stadium the previous week which brings us on to tonight's game.

Bolton Wanderers will be a difficult obstacle to overcome if we are to progress into the Fourth Round where the incentive is a home tie for the winners against Everton. We are delighted to have the opportunity to stage a replay after falling behind to two cheaply conceded goals in the original match.

Connor Wickham came off the bench to get us back into the game. His goal was followed by a wonderful strike from Craig Gardner. In the closing stages at The Reebok Stadium we pushed hard for a winning goal but Bolton held firm to maintain their own cup ambitions.

Having been quarter and semi-finalists in the last two years our opponents have the know how to negotiate difficult challenges in this competition. As members of the Barclays Premier League until last season they still have a squad full of top level quality and as we saw in the Capital One Cup, when we were beaten by

WIN THE TEAM-SHEET

Red and White gives you the chance to win a piece of rare football memorabilia. At every game there are three copies of the handwritten team-sheet filled in by each team. One copy goes to the referee, one to the opposition and the other one could be for you. That's our prize if you are our winner.

If you'd like to stand a chance of winning this rare souvenir of a game what you need to do is correctly predict the Sunderland starting line-up you think the manager will select.

Send what you think will be Sunderland's line up to Red and White by the day before a home game. If your team matches the one the manager names you could be a winner. If more than one correct entry is received a winner will be chosen at random.

Send your entries marked Teamsheet to Red and White, Stadium of Light, Sunderland SRS 1SU or email redandwhite@safc.com.

GARY HUTCHINSON

I'd like to extend a warm welcome to everyone today and I hope you all had an enjoyable Christmas and New Year.

Of course it has been a very hectic period in the football calendar with a large number of games in a short period of time, the victory over Barclays Premier League Champions Manchester City being the highlight. It has been great to see such fantastic attendances at the Stadium of Light over the festive period. We know that in challenging economic times such as these every penny counts and keeping football affordable for our supporters is something that we are very committed to. To be maintaining an average attendance of over 40,000 is something that gives us all a tremendous sense of pride and I can assure you that we never take such wonderful support for granted.

We will be announcing season card prices for 2013-14 in the coming weeks as we look towards next season. Pricing naturally is something we give great consideration to and you may be interested to learn that, according to official league statistics, only four top-flight clubs - Wigan Athletic, West Bromwich

Albion, Stoke City and Norwich City had an average season card price lower than our own at the start of the 2012-13 season and indeed only one club was cheaper than our average prices for juniors. Added to this we introduced our SAFC Rewards programme, which has certainly offered extra value to the overall season card package. We've had some very positive feedback from fans who have made the most of the discounts and special offers available exclusively to them.

The introduction of our new Family Zone last summer has led to an upturn in the number of youngsters attending games, which is fantastic. I'm sure we all have memories of going to our first football match, whether it be with a parent, grandparent or friend and we want as many youngsters as possible to be making new memories of their own here at the Stadium of Light.

The Family Zone was introduced after feedback and consultation with fans and this is something that we value very much. At the start of the season we introduced new catering options throughout the concourses and members of our thriving supporters branches across the region acted as our official tasters, giving us really valuable feedback on their likes and dislikes, which helped us to develop a bespoke matchday catering service. Of course, with the best will in the world you can't please everyone but we do always try to take on board ideas and suggestions and welcome the views of our supporters.

Just as we continue to aim to make progress on the pitch, so we continue with our work off the field to support the club's aims and ambitions. Our conference and events division continues to thrive, despite the economic climate and our events company, 1879 Events Management is going from strength to strength. Whilst football is always our key focus it is vital for the business to continue to grow and develop across its many platforms. By maximizing all of the revenue opportunities available to us we can support the club's football development and help the club become stronger and compete with the top teams.

We are looking to the New Year with optimism and enthusiasm. From a football perspective work is on-going in the January transfer window and our aim is to give you a team to be proud of. Off the field, we continue to explore opportunities both close to home and further afield and we are confident that the club is moving in the right direction.

Thank you for your continuing support and enjoy today's game.

If Liverpool were full value for inflicting a 3-0 defeat on Sunderland in the previous Barclays Premier League game The Lads were every bit as convincing in this third victory from the last four home games.

David Vaughan took the sponsors' Man of the Match award on his first top-flight start of the season, but there must have been 10 other contenders from the home ranks on a day when everyone played well.

On the front foot from the start Sunderland produced fluent football and got the goals to go with it. The hard working Seb Larsson leathpered home a 12th-minute opener with his left foot and wingers Adam Johnson and James McClean added their fourth and fifth goals of the season, Jack Colback hit the post and Steven Fletcher had a 'goal' disallowed.

Only in the latter stages did Simon Mignolet have to get his gloves dirty but when called upon the newly named North East Footballer of the Year ensured his fourth clean sheet in his last seven top-flight games.

MATCHFACTS

- Three midfielders scored in a top-flight game for the first time since Jim Baxter's home debut in August 1965, then Jim Baxter (2), George Herd and Jim McNab scored against Sheffield United.
- Three midfielders scored for the first time in any game since Dean Whitehead, Sean Thornton and Julio Arca were on the scoresheet against Plymouth in March 2005.
- Alfred N'Diaye became the third player to debut as a sub against West Ham after Gary Ogilvie and Daryl Murphy.
- James McFadden made his home debut.

- David Vaughan made his first Barclays Premier League start of the season.
- Seb Larsson scored his first goal of the season.
- This was the biggest home win over West Ham since a 6-0 victory in 1977.
- Alou Diarra and Dan Potts made their Barclays Premier League debuts for The Hammers., as did sub Marouane Chamakh.
- Joe Cole made his first Barclays Premier League game of his second spell with The Hammers.
- West Ham 'keeper Jussi Jaaskelainen made his 400th Barclays Premier League appearance.
- A gate of just under 40,000 was the biggest of the day.
- A late change of fourth official saw Howard Webb replace Martin Atkinson.

Connor Wickham was the star man last week when he came off the bench to help the Black Cats overcome a two goal deficit at the Reebok Stadium.

Wickham replaced Carlos Cuellar on 57 minutes and made an instant impact scoring after just one minute of being on the park: "I came on when we were two nil down - we had nothing to lose - I just had to go out and play my best."

The England Under-21 man lead the front line with Steven Fletcher and believes that the team's second-half fight back was hugely influenced by the travelling 5,000 fans behind the goal: "You could hear the fans all the way through the game. I think our fans dominated their fans. They didn't stop the whole way through."

"It was a big stand they were in; with over 5,000 there it was amazing support. It really does help when you hear them cheering you on."

Wickham has come off the bench on numerous occasions this season and impressed in games against Norwich City, Manchester United and of course the Bolton game last weekend. At just 19-years-old, Wickham says he is pleased with his performances and hopeful that he can continue to impress the fans and manager: "It's always my aim to be in among the manager's plans, hopefully the goal against Bolton will stand me in good stead."

"Fletcher has done really well this season and so has Sessegnon so any chance I get, I am grateful for. I just go out there and do what I can and hopefully put in a good performance for the fans."

Last season Sunderland enjoyed their best cup run since 2004 when they were knocked out in the semi-final by Millwall.

The romance of the cup is one of the oldest cliches in football, but the whole of Wearside showed their love for the competition last season when the team were just one win away from Wembley.

It wasn't to be, but forty years on from the magic of 1973, Wickham believes that a good cup run is expected by supporters at the Stadium of Light: "When you have 5,000 fans travelling to support you in the third round of the cup that tells you how much the fans love this competition."

"Everybody in Sunderland still talks about 1973 and it would be great to give them a new dream and hopefully we can get a good result tonight and push on in the competition."

The striker admits that he has gained extra confidence since his goal last weekend and to have the backing of the travelling fans who were all chanting 'there's only one Connor Wickham'.

"Of course it's nice to hear the fans singing your name at the full time whistle. They were tremendous for the whole game and hopefully I give them more chances to sing my name. I'll keep working hard in training and showing people what I am capable of and look to push on from there."

CAT'S EYES
ADAM JOHNSON

Adam Johnson won the FA Cup 18 months ago with Manchester City when they beat Stoke City 1-0 at Wembley. And it is a competition that the Sunderland man admits he absolutely loves.

The build up to the final and the lift around the club, the fans' excitement, is something that is special for everybody involved at a football club says Johnson.

"It's the best cup competition in the world and it's the first major honour I won - you can't describe the moment when you win something like that. The days surrounding it are special and you just can't put it into words how good it feels."

Sunderland faced Bolton in the Third Round of the competition back in 2009

when the Black Cats ran out 2-1 winners at the Stadium of Light when Bolton were also a Barclays Premier League club, and Johnson believes they will have a point to prove this evening following their relegation to the Npower Championship last season.

"It's a big game for Bolton, a lot of their players have played in the Barclays Premier League before and they will be looking to get a result and to prove a point," he said. "We saw that they have a good side last weekend. They have a new manager there too who they will want to continue to impress and they will be fired up for this game."

The Black Cats will also be buoyed by new signing Alfred N'Diaye although he is not available for tonight's replay and Johnson knows that the team need to come out firing straight away to avoid a repeat of last weekend's two-nil deficit at the Reebok Stadium.

"We didn't start well at the Reebok, we need to cut out the mistakes and capitalise on our attacking play. We created a lot of chances and tested their 'keeper. We could have won it at the end but we need to make sure we have attacking play from the off and punish them whenever possible."

Fans need no reminder of last season's FA Cup run, when the team narrowly missed out on a trip to Wembley after the home defeat to Everton back in March. Of course, Johnson was not at the club back then but should Sunderland win tonight then a game against Everton looms in the next round of the competition. Yet it is something that does not faze the England man: "In cup competitions all teams stand a chance - look at Bradford in the Capital One Cup - we've got players at this club, who on their day can beat anyone.

"We have to go out and get the win and we know we've then got to come up against Everton.

"It's important to get past Bolton and then our reward for that is a home tie which is always a bonus in the cup.

"It would be great for the lads here who've never experienced that to get a good run and go far."

CAPTAIN'S COLUMN

TOP CATT

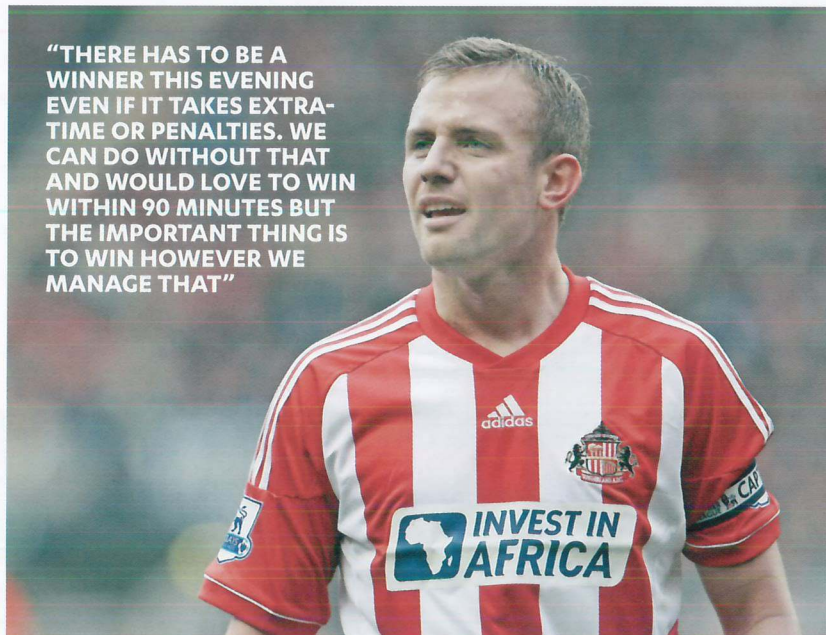

Tonight's game is a tough one. Bolton still have a lot of quality as most of the players who played for them in the top-flight are still with them and we saw when we played Middlesbrough that playing a Championship team is anything but easy.

It was a hard game at Bolton and we know it will be again tonight. There has to be a winner this evening even if it takes extra-time or penalties. We can do without that and would love to win within 90 minutes but the important thing is to win however we manage that.

There's a home tie against Everton as the incentive for tonight's winners and after going out to Everton last season we'd love to have another go at overcoming them, but if we don't do our jobs tonight we won't get that opportunity so we have to be focussed and ensure we come out on top. We gave ourselves a lot to do in the original tie where we had to come back from two goals down in order to earn tonight's replay. Having done that we need to finish the job off tonight, but Bolton have already proved that they can take advantage if we're not at our best.

I sat upstairs on Saturday with three or four of the other lads and it was nice to see the fans enjoying it as we comfortably beat West Ham. It's great to watch games like that. There can be times when we are struggling a little bit and you can feel the tension but Saturday was the opposite.

"THERE HAS TO BE A WINNER THIS EVENING EVEN IF IT TAKES EXTRA-TIME OR PENALTIES. WE CAN DO WITHOUT THAT AND WOULD LOVE TO WIN WITHIN 90 MINUTES BUT THE IMPORTANT THING IS TO WIN HOWEVER WE MANAGE THAT"

Everyone was on top of their game and we went ahead early on with a fabulous strike from Seb which gave everyone a big lift. To be honest the longer the game went on I was waiting for them to have a spell on top but they never really had one. I thought we controlled the game throughout and even though Simon had a couple of saves to make late on we were always in command.

I thought we deserved to win at their place this season so I was confident when I got up on Saturday morning that we would be able to win the game and that proved to be the case. Titus was excellent at the back. I think the fans like him because of how well he's done when he's played. By his standards I don't think he was too pleased with his performance at Bolton but he showed on Saturday how good he can be.

That level of performance was there all over the pitch. I thought Vaughny was terrific, as was Seb, and Sessy was turning players all the time. If he'd finished the third goal off it would have been a great goal but as it was after a fantastic run the ball ran to James who finished it off.

I'm missing playing as you would expect but I'm pleased with the progress I've been making. I've been doing plenty of running so hopefully I'll be in training soon. I heard that the original team-sheets at Bolton had me down as playing but sadly for me that was just a misprint. Hopefully I'll be back for real before too long though.

Saturday sees us face another big game when we travel to my old club Wigan. As at Bolton I'm sure we'll have another big travelling support and we'll be looking to build on the three points gained against West Ham but for now that will wait as we concentrate on trying to overcome Bolton.

Thanks for your support, enjoy the game.

TONIGHT'S OPPONENTS

INTRODUCING BOLTON

Starting in the millennium season Bolton went to Wembley Stadium, the old and the new, for two FA Cup semi-finals in the space of 11 years.

With both occasions dampened by tears of defeat - after a penalty shootout against Aston Villa and a mauling by Stoke City - they were to experience contrasting emotions in subsequent seasons. In 2000 Sam Allardyce's team had to endure a further disappointment after a controversial defeat by Ipswich Town in the play-offs but compensation was only a year off before they overcame Preston in a promotion decider at the Millennium Stadium.

In 2011 it was not only the shock of a 5-0 defeat by Stoke - "devastated and very emotional" were among the words of Kevin Davies, the captain - but the damage that was to linger through the following 12 months.

Eighth in the table when travelling to Wembley, Bolton would not have envisaged losing their Barclays Premier League place so quickly.

Beating Arsenal in the game after the semi-final ordeal was merely a false dawn. From April to October they lost 11 of their next 12 League games - five in a row at the end of one season and six on the bounce in the next.

A 4-0 win at QPR stood in isolation between the two sequences.

Once trapped at the bottom there was a certain inevitability that relegation would follow but, to their credit, they made a fight of it. March offered the biggest chink of light with a Manager of the Month award for Owen Coyle as his team reeled off three successive wins against relegation rivals.

A point at the Stadium of Light in April kept hopes alive but the spirit of defiance - they lost only one of the last five games - was snuffed out on the last afternoon at Stoke.

In a cruel coincidence the club that broke Bolton hearts at Wembley would also be

SCOUTING REPORT

Trotters manager Dougie Freedman made six changes from his previous League line up when he named his side to face Sunderland at The Reebok, naming half a dozen of his regulars on the bench.

With a match away to his former club, promotion chasing Crystal Palace, coming up this weekend only the release of tonight's team-sheet will illustrate whether Wanderers will go with a similar line up to the initial game or bring in former Liverpool midfielder Jay Spearing - who would seem suited to tonight's challenge - USA international centre-back Tim Ream or first choice 'keeper Adam Bogdan, all of whom watched from the bench in the initial tie.

Equally 'Halomesque' centre forward Kevin Davies, experienced winger Chris Eagles and regular right-back Tyrone Mears, who all came on as subs 12 days ago, could find themselves starting tonight. Additionally, former Boro centre-half David Wheater, Players' Player of the Year Mark Davies and one time SAFC youngster Stuart Holden are all coming back from injury.

Having just been relegated last season after long term membership of the top-flight, Bolton's squad retains the quality of a Barclays Premier League outfit with many experienced players. While they have found the going tough in the Championship a draw and a win away to the two sides that went down with them (Wolves and Blackburn) indicates that they enjoy a challenge.

Against Sunderland back up 'keeper Andy Lonergan had a blinder with a string of great saves. At right-back Joe Riley was selected for his second start of the season but had to limp out of the action before half-time, Mears taking over. The enormous Zat Knight - whose effort at the Stadium of Light on a previous visit resulted in Craig Gordon producing what was later judged to be the greatest save in the first 20 years of the Premier League - was partnered by Sam Ricketts with Marcos Alonso impressive at left-back. Alonso's dad played for Barcelona whilst his granddad played for Real Madrid!

Martin Petrov fires in a shot in the initial meeting

Wanderers' decision to operate a 4-4-2 was assisted by having two very hard working men in central midfield, ex-Swansea man Darren Pratley and Republic of Ireland international Keith Andrews. On the wings former Manchester City and Bulgaria player Martin Petrov remains a quality performer with the effervescent Chung-Yong Lee on the left, Lee opening the scoring.

Up front Team GB player Marvin Sordell made the most of his first start since August with a goal, while his partner on the day, ex-Liverpool striker David Ngog, was strongly linked with Sunderland in his Anfield days.

LIGHT YEARS

2002... When Bolton made their first Barclays Premier League visit to the Stadium of Light, losing 1-0 to a goal from Jason McAteer on 5th March 2002, each manager was a former player of the opposing club: Peter Reid (ex-Bolton) and Sam Allardyce (ex-Sunderland).

the one to send them down after 11 seasons in the Barclays Premier League. They needed to win but could only draw - and QPR survived by a single point.

Given that Wanderers were coming off their longest period in the top-flight for almost half-a-century, the bookmakers immediately made them favourites to win the Championship this season.

While some of the more experienced players had departed - including Jussi Jaaskelainen, Paul Robinson, Gretar Steinsson and Nigel Reo-Coker - the squad looked strong enough to launch a promotion challenge.

However, early results did not support such confidence. With three wins in 10 games, the club acted. While recognising that Coyle had "poured his heart and soul" into his job since moving from Burnley in January 2010, chairman Phil Gartside said it was "the right time for a change."

The "promotion" word clearly underpinned a sentence in the official statement. "We set a target at the beginning of the season and want to get back on track."

With Bolton in 18th place, there was plenty of time to make up lost ground. Even after a three-match wait for a new manager, the gap to the top six was only seven points. This was entirely manageable, as proven by Millwall and Watford, then only a point ahead of Bolton but in play-off positions by December.

Dougie Freedman, having moulded Crystal Palace into one of the most progressive clubs in the division, was the man chosen to usher in a new era The Reebok.

While young in management terms - he will be 39 next week - the Scot was vastly experienced as a player, scoring 108 League and cup goals for Palace alone. This attacking instinct was quickly evident in the way he wants football to be played.

So far, at Bolton, there is not a consistent pattern of results. An unbeaten spell in November included wins against Cardiff and Blackburn, but Wanderers turned into 2013 with a third defeat in four games.

SET-PIECES

Three of the first meeting's four goals stemmed from corner kicks, Bolton scoring from one of their three with Sunderland capitalizing on two of the 16 they forced.

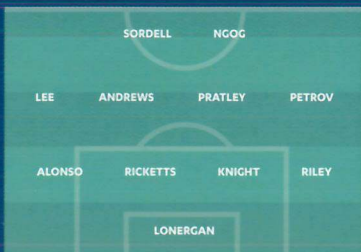

Martin O'Neill's men have been impressive from defending flag kicks this season. Indeed when Spurs scored from one at the Stadium of Light in the last game of 2012 it was the first goal The Lads had conceded from a flag kick in the Barclays Premier League this season - the last side to do so and even then it was an own goal.

Bolton though found a way through when a half cleared flag kick was knocked back into the box for Marvin Sordell to head home.

All of Bolton's corners in the first game saw Lee and Petrov look to work them short, the goal coming from one Lee played to Petrov, who on that occasion quickly whipped the ball into the six-yard box. Should Chris Eagles start the replay he may offer some variation.

Defensively Wanderers went man for man with a defender on the back post. Connor Wickham managed to score from The Lads' 11th corner with Craig Gardner equalising with a screamer when the 12th was half cleared.

Free-kicks conceded near the edge of the box could see Petrov or Eagles create danger with Keith Andrews having the ability to smack a piledriver.

ZAT KNIGHT

OPPOSITION VIEW

ANDY GREEVES TALKS TO BOLTON WANDERERS DEFENDER ZAT KNIGHT.

The FA Cup has provided its fair share of both happy memories and heartbreak for Bolton Wanderers' Zat Knight. On 8th January, 2005, he scored his first goal in professional football in a Third Round FA Cup tie playing for Fulham against Watford at Vicarage Road but in both 2002 and 2011, he was a losing FA Cup semi-finalist, playing for Fulham against Chelsea and later Bolton Wanderers against Stoke City.

"I've never got through to the final unfortunately," he bemoans. "The semi-final (for Bolton Wanderers) against Stoke was obviously a bad day for us (Bolton lost 5-0). It would be nice to go on a run in the cup this year, but it's obviously a case of taking each round as it comes. Our focus is totally on Sunderland and it wouldn't be right to even be thinking about Everton (in the next round) at this stage."

Bolton will still be rueing a missed opportunity to have progressed into the Fourth Round of the FA Cup this season, having led 2-0 against Sunderland in this original tie back on 5th January. Knight says that he and his team-mates are focusing on the major positive from that encounter - a very good Bolton Wanderers performance.

"I thought that especially in the first-half, we did really well as a team," he says. "To establish a two goal lead against a Barclays Premier League team was very pleasing, though obviously it was disappointing not to get the win. Sunderland were noticeably better in the second-half and Craig Gardner scored a fantastic goal, which was worthy of getting some kind of result in any football match."

Sunderland have a good recent record against Bolton, having of course faced them in the Barclays Premier League up until this season. The Black Cats have won six, drawn three and lost none of the last nine encounters, with the Trotters' last victory against Sunderland coming back on 29th November, 2008, when they won 4-1 at the Stadium of Light. Past results and league status are not a concern for Knight coming into this fixture though.

"The replay is big game for us and we are really looking forward to coming to the Stadium of Light and hopefully getting a result," says the defender.

"Sunderland will be a tough challenge, but we can hope for a repeat of our first-half performance from last Saturday. We are the underdogs being from the Championship but the beauty of the FA Cup is that a team from a lower division can get a result on the day.

"It's nice to rub shoulders with a Barclays Premier League team again and we'd obviously like to be playing that kind of opposition week in, week out. We don't want to get too carried away though and we have to be realistic about where we are. We are Championship club and we have to concentrate on our own league. We need to be getting results at the moment to move up the division. The league is so tight, with not a lot of points separating those teams towards the bottom of the Championship to those in and around the play-off spots."

As well as hoping that Bolton can overturn a poor run of recent results against Sunderland, Knight will also be looking for a slice of luck at the Stadium of Light, having been denied rare scoring opportunities on this ground, not least from a save that was named as the best save in the first 20 years of the Premier League.

"My biggest memory of playing against Sunderland in the past was a match two seasons ago (18th December, 2010) at the Stadium of Light when Sunderland won 1-0," he says. "I had guided the ball into the goal and I was just about to celebrate when Craig Gordon came from nowhere to make a fantastic save."

Zat Knight played for Martin O'Neill at Villa and forced the greatest save ever seen at the Stadium of Light

WANDERERS 2
SUNDERLAND 2
SATURDAY 5TH
JANUARY 2013,
REEBOK STADIUM,
FA CUP WITH BUDWEISER THIRD ROUND

After Martin O'Neill had no doubt urged his players to do better in the second-half, The Lads found themselves two down within three minutes of the re-start when Marvin Sordell added to Chung-Yong Lee's 12th-minute opener.

Sunderland's woes were added to by the sight of Danny Rose having to be replaced early on and before the hour mark another member of an already depleted back-four departed through injury, Carlos Cuellar completing an unhappy afternoon after his wayward pass had put Sunderland on the back foot.

Two players whose only previous starts this season had been in the Capital One Cup were having a telling effect on the tie. For Sunderland David Vaughan played with vision and kept pushing the Lads forward, while in the Bolton goal 'keeper Andy Lonergan excelled with a series of saves.

As Sunderland built up a head of steam his stop from a close range Steven Fletcher header following sparkling wing play by Adam Johnson looked to have given Bolton heart that they could see off the visitors' challenge and defeat a top-flight team on home soil for the first time since March.

However, from the resulting corner Connor Wickham netted his first away strike for Sunderland into the same goal that provided a landmark for Kevin Phillips who once scored his 100th goal for the club at that end.

Bolton had an almost instant chance to restore their two goal lead only for Jack Colback to brilliantly thwart David Ngog before Craig Gardner, James McClean and Fletcher all threatened an equalizer as the old 'Roker Roar on tour' insisted that this year's cup run was not going to end without a fight.

With 15 minutes to go and with a packed penalty area in front of him the ball dropped to Craig Gardner in the 'D'. He had time to measure his shot as the ball dropped and no sooner had 'Gards' connected with it than the net bulged and the temperature of the cup fever behind the goal went up another notch. Great goal, great support but can The Lads finish the job tonight?

MATCHFACTS

- Sunderland recovered a two goal deficit away from home in the FA Cup for the first time since January 1937... what happened in the FA Cup that year again?
- That January 1937 comeback was started by a goal by Connor - Jimmy Connor, whereas it was Connor Wickham this time.
- Connor Wickham became the fastest FA Cup substitute scorer in SAFC's history.
- The last time Sunderland recovered from two down in the FA Cup was at home to Wrexham in 1977.
- The last two goal recovery away from home in all competitions was at Burnley in 2006.
- The last two goal recovery in any game was at home to WBA in October 2011.
- The last two goal recovery in any cup game was against Northampton in the League Cup in 2008.
- The last time Sunderland avoided defeat after trailing at half-time in an FA Cup tie was also at Bolton in 2003.
- Sunderland named fewer than the full allocation of subs for only the third time ever. Previous occasions were at Atalanta in the Anglo Italian Cup in 1972 and away to Chester in the League Cup in 1998.
- Phil Bardsley became Sunderland's third captain in three games following O'Shea v Spurs and Cuellar at Liverpool.
- Sunderland's tally of 16 corners was easily the highest tally of the season so far - and both goals came from them.
- Half of the outfield starting line up made their first FA Cup appearances for the club: Bramble, Cuellar, Fletcher, Johnson and Rose.
- Craig Gardner's goal meant he had scored in all three competitions this season, becoming the ninth player to achieve this feat since the move to the Stadium of Light in 1997.
- The away following of 5,042 exceeded the total gate at two of the day's other ties and was with a thousand of five others.

BOLTON WANDERERS v SUNDERLAND
THE FA CUP WITH
BUDWEISER THIRD
ROUND, REEBOK
STADIUM, SATURDAY
5TH JANUARY 2013, 3PM
Journey time (via road):
2 hr 47 mins
Distance: 150.3 miles

Sunderland's (hopefully!) road to Wembley began with a tricky tie at the Reebok Stadium.

Despite the FA Cup's apparent loss of appeal to many fans - thanks to the many changes to the most famous cup competition over the years - the trip to Bolton certainly stoked the imagination of the Sunderland faithful with 5,000 fans quickly snapping up tickets hoping to see The Lads go further than last season's cup run. After a disastrous start, we were just relieved to get back on the coach still in the hat for round four!

THE DAY OUT

Our two coaches left a mild Jarrow at 8.30am and bombed down the motorway to the Reebok. After the success of our previous visit to the Lower Kersal Social Club in Salford, which is run by Phil Bardsley's dad Tony, we went there again. Thankfully Tony laid on some great food - pies and hot dogs - and even more gratefully, no free shots of sambuca which gave this supporter a sore head and a near divorce the next morning!

As usual, Tony gave us a great welcome and we also got to see Brighton put one past the Mags before we got back on the coach after 1.30pm. We got to the Reebok just after 2pm where the fleet of SAFC-supporting coaches were already parked up. When we got inside we heard that Brighton had put another one past the Mags which lifted the mood of everyone inside the concourse even more.

Sadly our first-half performance helped dampen the spirits a fair bit but at least The Lads dug in and made sure we were still in the hat for the next round. The trip home was certainly a lot better than it would have been had we lost and we got back in good time and windows intact just after 8pm. At least this time there was certainly no dramas or blaming my poor state on Tony Bardsley!

ATMOSPHERE

With 5,000 pumped up Sunderland supporters, this was as good as it gets. No pressures of Barclays Premier League points, cheap ticket prices, and the short trip, the red and white army could relax and enjoy this one, which they did.

It didn't start well with two comical goals conceded but the travelling fans certainly helped get The Lads back into it and it was great to see the management and players acknowledge the tremendous backing they received at the end of the game.

VIEW

The only downside about our view in the lower tier of the South Stand was we were only a couple of rows from the front. We were situated behind the netting of the goal too so it was hard to see the far end of the pitch. It was a cracking view when Gardner let fly though!

MEMORY OF THE DAY

Bolton's mascot Lofty the Lion getting short shrift off the away support when he dared to come near!

OVERALL

Poor first-half, much better second. At least we're in the hat for round four - which is all that matters!

NEIL SHOWS HE IS 'BACK IN THE GAME'

Neil Jones left school in 2007 with the desire of becoming a personal trainer and spent the next two years gaining further qualifications to achieve his goal.

Upon completion of his qualifications Neil applied relentlessly for work without any success. After weeks of unsuccessful applications Neil's hopes turned to despair and his confidence and self-esteem dropped dramatically. He even lost interest in exercise and sport and started to apply for any jobs he could do.

Neil has described this as the worst time of his life; endless job searching, application forms and CV's made the days dull and tedious. Lack of income stopped him from doing the things he loved and the only time he would leave the house was to visit the Jobcentre.

After six months of unemployment Neil was signposted to the Foundation's 'Back in the Game' course.

He arrived at the open day feeling he was at the lowest point in his life having little social life, money or motivation and not fully understanding what was happening in his life.

Over the 10-week course staff noticed changes in Neil's behaviour and attitude. He embraced the tasks that Foundation staff gave him and started to regain his confidence and motivation, whilst broadening his job search.

The first few weeks Neil found really difficult, finding it hard to change to the working environment. On identifying these issues a support system was put into place to help Neil settle into a routine.

His assertiveness, awareness and social skills have developed greatly and he accepted a permanent position last year with the Foundation of Light helping others who were in his situation. Neil has now developed into a confident and driven individual becoming an integral part of the 'Back in the Game' team.

'Back in the Game' is funded by Profound, South Tyneside ACL, Sunderland ACL and Santander.

BULLETIN BOARD

1863 150 YEARS 2013

This year marks a landmark anniversary for football as exactly 150 years ago, the game as we know it began with the formation of The Football Association.

Sunderland man Charles Alcock, the founding spirit of The FA Cup and international football, has been one of the most important people The FA's history.

Alcock was not quite 30 years old, and had been The FA's secretary for little more than 12 months, when he first had his vision of a national knockout tournament. He had remembered playing in an inter-house 'sudden death' competition during his schooldays at Harrow and in July 1871 proposed a competition run on similar lines for all the clubs in membership of The FA.

The FA Committee swiftly agreed to his proposal. 18 rules were drafted, 15 clubs had their entries accepted, and the famous 'Football Association Challenge Cup' was born. Acknowledged as the greatest domestic cup competition in the world, it had 758 entries this season and has become so special that 90,000 at Wembley and around half a billion on worldwide television will watch the showpiece final in May.

Alcock had another good idea. He sent a letter to the Glasgow Herald to announce that a match between 'England' and 'Scotland' would be played at Kennington Oval in London. It was only an unofficial international, with the players of both sides living in London, but an official match - the first international football match in history - took place in Glasgow in November 1872. It finished Scotland 0 England 0.

We have so much to thank Mr Alcock for. He started The FA Cup... and the England team!

This Wednesday 16th January, The FA will officially unveil its 150th anniversary plans ahead of what will be a spectacular year-long celebration of the English game. The FA's 150th anniversary calendar includes a stellar line-up of events and England international fixtures, including:

- England versus Brazil, Scotland and Republic of Ireland, plus Brazil tour

- UEFA Congress and UEFA Champions League Final in May
- FA England Awards at St. George's Park on Sunday 3rd February
- 20 years of women's football and UEFA Women's Euro 2013 in July
- National Football Day on Saturday 10th August
- FA Gala Dinner at the Grand Connaught Rooms on Saturday 26th October

Throughout the year, every aspect of the game will be focused upon, from the grassroots and the women's games to the England teams and disability football, as The FA brings the history of football to life.

A key focus of the anniversary will be on those people up and down the country whose commitment in supporting the game at all levels continues to be fundamental to its growth and development.

The FA is the not-for-profit, governing body of football in England. It is responsible for growing participation and regulating the sport, so everyone can enjoy it.

The grassroots game has seven million people of all ages playing football in parks, on playgrounds and in organised league football. There are 1,100 such leagues, collectively totalling 29,000 clubs and 115,000 teams. Together, they see approximately two million diverse people play organised football at least once a week.

Helping run the grassroots game throughout the year are 400,000 volunteers, more than 300,000 coaches and 27,000 qualified referees from different backgrounds.

The wider game in England now sees 30 million tickets sold to professional football in this country every season. At the international apex of the game, there are 24 England teams, across men's, women's, youth and disability football. Up to half the population watches when the England men's senior team plays key tournament matches.

ROLE: Head of Commercial at Foundation of Light

Briefly explain what your role entails: I oversee the new Commercial team at the Foundation and am involved in a wide range of activities. These include developing links with local businesses, events, community and corporate fundraising campaigns, overseeing sponsorship and donations, as well as a football development scheme and international football coaching courses. It's a varied job and is very rewarding as all income generated goes back into the great programmes delivered by the Foundation in our communities.

How long have you worked at the club? Three years

Favourite match: Difficult to pick a favourite game but there have been a few memorable moments and the stand out one would be Ji Dong-Won's last minute winner against Manchester City last season.

BECAUSE WE CAN

The Bon Jovi: 'Because We Can' world tour comes to the Stadium of Light on Thursday 13th June. Additionally released tickets priced from £45 can be purchased via www.aeglive.co.uk.

A limited number of general admission tickets* priced at £65 are also available from Sunderland's Stadium of Light ticket office. These tickets are for in-person purchases only - bookings cannot be taken via telephone.

These are general admission tickets - standing/ unreserved seating and a maximum eight per person is permitted (Credit/debit

THE GREATEST SEASON

THE GREATEST SEASON

CONTINUING THE SERIES WHICH TRACES THE CENTENARY OF SAFC'S GREATEST SEASON IN 1912-13.

Following a successful start to a cup run which would climax with a first ever appearance in the final, a week after slaughtering Clapton Orient 6-0 in the First Round The Lads were drawn to play at Manchester City at the start of February.

Next up though was a home league game with Oldham Athletic on January 18th. People turning up at the advertised kick-off time saw four minutes before the visitors went ahead but in fact the match had started 10 minutes early due to the weather.

The previous week's game at Derby had been postponed due to a waterlogged pitch and with a big thaw underway and pre-match rain it was decided to start early. Latic's lead came from a corner finished off by Kemp.

In what proved to be an entertaining match in spite of the conditions Charlie Buchan equalized with 17 minutes left but Oldham (who had knocked Bolton out of the cup a week earlier) held on as Sunderland dropped the only point they would concede in the first two months of the season.

TONIGHT'S VISITORS

On Christmas Eve Bolton had sold Tommy Barber to Aston Villa, the fee of £1,950 being put towards roofing their Great Lever Stand.

Three days earlier Barber's last game had been a 2-1 defeat at Sunderland but it would be Barber who would score the only goal of that season's cup final against Sunderland.

Under manager Will Settle, the Trotters finished eighth. Bolton were Sunderland's opponents on the day The Lads mathematically secured the title on 26th April at Burnden Park. On that day the red and whites were three up in 24 minutes and ran out 3-1 winners.

TONIGHT'S GAME

Tonight's game is of course the replay from last week's draw at the Reebok Stadium when The Lads made a fantastic comeback from 2-0 down to draw 2-2.

If Sunderland do win tonight then there will be another game at the Stadium of Light a week on Saturday to play Everton. A good cup run is always a great experience so help Samson and Delilah cheer on The Lads to victory and make as much noise as possible.

BOLTON'S ONE TO WATCH - CHRIS EAGLES

Flying winger Chris Eagles signed for Bolton Wanderers from Burnley in July 2011 and has gone on to become a key player for the team. He scores goals, he makes goals and he keeps opposing defenders on their toes.

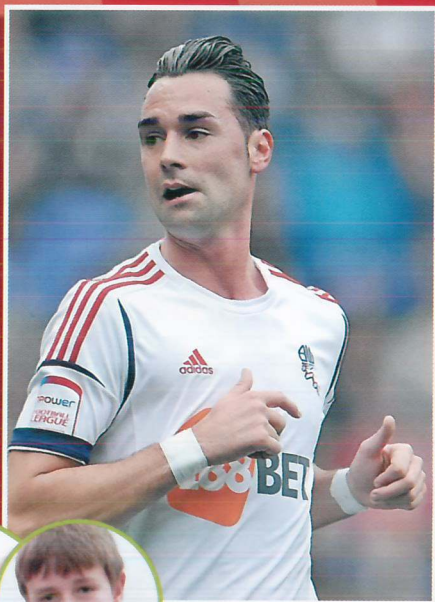

Chris is a fans' favourite at The Reebok and is currently top scorer for Dougie Freedman's men as they look to return to the Barclays Premier League.

CARTER'S CRAIC

THE VIEWS EXPRESSED IN THIS COLUMN ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF SAFC.

Old timers like me will probably remember the TV quiz Double Your Money and the joke about the contestant answering questions on football.

The presenter tells him the big money question is in two parts and he can choose which way round he wishes to hear them. The bloke elects to go for the second part first and the host says "For £60,000 pounds, tell me who won?" To most youngsters that will probably seem about as amusing as toothache but in those simple days it was a topical joke.

Mind you the way we've been playing lately having the second bit first might not be such a bad option. The fightback at Bolton was great to see but please lads let's get going from the first minute rather than leaving it so late. I've got precious little hair as it is and even less in the way of fingernails.

Bolton will fancy their chances, especially as they expect to have one or two players available who were missing from the first game. Home advantage counts for nothing and there has to be a result tonight so I've got my sleeping bag just in case. Enjoy it.

ARE YOU IN THE HOT SEAT? WIN A PAIR OF TICKETS FOR A BARCLAYS PREMIER LEAGUE MATCH

Tonight's Hot Seat prize is two tickets for the next Barclays Premier League match here at the Stadium of Light when Swansea City come to Wearside on Tuesday January 29th. You never know you might be lucky today and win a pair of tickets but if you aren't in the Hot Seat you can find ticket details on page 50. Of course, if you have a season card then being in the Hot Seat could give you the chance to bring two mates to the match but remember you have to have a copy of today's programme to claim the prize.

Win two tickets for the Swansea game

CONGRATULATIONS

At the match against West Ham on Saturday, having won two tickets by being in the Hot Seat at the Spurs game, is Colin from Washington, seen here with his son Ben. Colin was in the South East Corner, Row 8, Seat 613.

At every game we announce a 'Hot Seat' number at half-time. If we announce your seat number you could have won a prize providing you have a copy of today's match programme and you claim the prize before half-time is over. Please be aware that row and seat numbers can be the same in different stands. To be our winner you must have a ticket for the correct stand with the correct row and seat number as well as your programme.

Prizes must be claimed at half-time. If you are not at your seat when the number is read out please report to the nearest steward before half-time is over showing them your ticket and programme and ask them to report your claim immediately to Andrew Lisgo of the P.R. dept. No prize claims can be accepted after half-time.

DOUG WEATHERALL

THE WEATHERALL FILES

THE VIEWS EXPRESSED IN THIS COLUMN ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF SAFC.

Referee Jones's last blow of his whistle on 5th January means I'm tapping at my computer on 6th January. Sunderland's FA Cup draw at Bolton demands a programme piece from me for the replay. But, even in this significant 40th anniversary campaign since Bob Stokoe's wondrous run, I first want to express a sincere personal thank you.

It's to a few of the 41,168 Stadium of Light crowd who attended the Barclays Premier League match with Tottenham Hotspur. They were a comfort for me after I took a heavy fall as I headed towards a Metro train home. Remarkably, I'd never fallen since I was a boy and skinned knees would receive my mother's attention. So you can imagine my instant fears after my brow thudded against a pavement. Remember, I still had the scars from an operation near my brain seven weeks earlier.

Those fans who raised this 80-year-old to his feet could not have been more helpful, though. They told me where the new head wound was. It was nearer the left eye than the vicinity of my op. And they made sure I was capable of walking without aid before I continued to the Stadium of Light station.

Even on the train I had another would-be helper. This fan was ready to drive me home from Jesmond until my daughter, Julia, via mobile 'phones, insisted she meet me at West Jesmond and drive me for a check-up at Newcastle's Royal Victoria Infirmary.

A black eye might have indicated I'd been in a boxing ring, but, thankfully, no damage had been done to the near-brain area. Mind you, a nurse, clearly a black-and-white, joked it served me right for attending a Sunderland match!

So to tonight and the Cup. I wasn't at Bolton, but, after listening to BBC Radio Newcastle commentary and suffering with Nick Barnes and Gary Bennett in that first-half, it was such a relief that the Connor Wickham and Craig Gardner goals earned tonight's second chance.

Almost needless to say, I recalled how David Watson's Third Round equaliser at Notts County comprised the first relatively inauspicious chapter of the 1973 fairytale. Too much for which to hope? Of course not. The romance of the FA Cup is that the dream is there until your team is knocked out.

Regular readers of this column will know I love the FA Cup. Those managers who fielded weakened sides on 5th January demeaned the competition. In their '73 run Sunderland faced only the mightiest available.

I believe any manager who fields anything but his strongest team in the competition is just WRONG.

JIM MONTGOMERY

MONTY'S MESSAGE

Beating Bolton here tonight would be a big result. Having been in the Barclays Premier League until last season they still possess a lot of top-flight quality in their squad and having had two excellent cup runs themselves in the last two seasons they know how to dig out a result.

With around half an hour to go in the original tie Bolton must have felt favourites to book their place in the Fourth Round as they led 2-0 but Sunderland came back well to claim a draw and might have even won it. Listening to the radio commentary it sounded like we barely got started in the first-half and then did well after being hit with a second goal just after the re-start.

The first goal was a gift and it was unlike Carlos Cuellar to give the ball away like that in a dangerous situation because he is normally an ultra cautious defender who is happy to put I in row z if the situation demands it. I imagine he thought he could find Bramble who could lay it back to Mignolet for Simon to clear it, but obviously it went horribly wrong and the players won't need me to tell them that we have to cut simple errors like that completely out of our game. Thankfully we got a grip and fought back well to set up tonight's replay.

Carlos Cuellar is normally an ultra cautious defender but has been unlucky against Spurs and Bolton

The prize for winning tonight is a home tie with Everton. Beating Bolton is the first task and that won't be easy but I know there are some looking ahead and thinking Everton is just about the worst possible draw. Many see them as a bogey team but the past is the past and you cannot afford to think like that. Last year I'd have put my shirt on us beating them in the quarter-final replay especially after bringing them back here.

Any team is beatable. I remember playing Everton in one of my first cup ties. We were a Second Division team then while they were the league champions but they came to Sunderland and we took them on and won 3-1. Of course, this season is the 40th anniversary of us winning the cup when we went into games against Manchester City, Arsenal and Leeds with the rest of the country giving us no chance but we had a go and came out on top.

By the way the Team of 73 dinner on 5th May is heading towards a sell out so if you are interested in coming it is worth getting your ticket sorted out sooner rather than later or it might be too late. You can call 0871 911 1500 or email team73dinner@safc.com

While we're really looking forward to commemorating the anniversary of winning the cup what we'd all love to see is The Lads winning things for the present generation of supporters. We'd love to see Sunderland do it again and it would be fantastic for the fans. When you think 5,000 snapped up the away allocation or Bolton it shows you the potential for our supporters to really get behind a cup run.

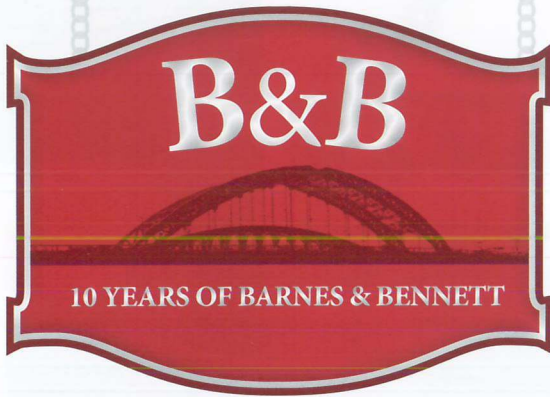

Eric Gates

MONTY'S GUEST - ERIC GATES

Eric Gates was a sparkling footballer who was as much a livewire on the pitch in his playing days as we all know he can be off it even now.

Eric won two England caps and won the UEFA Cup with Ipswich under Bobby Robson and later after coming to Sunderland as a veteran enjoyed an Indian Summer as half of the 'G-Force' with Marco Gabbiadini.

Gatesy played Gabbers the balls he wanted himself as a youngster so he knew where to put it and had the talent to play the pass he saw in his mind's eye. One of SAFC's great characters it's always a pleasure to welcome Eric who is invariably great craic.

THE VIEWS EXPRESSED IN THIS COLUMN ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF SAFC.

So the FA Cup with Budweiser is up and running and Sunderland are thankfully still involved following their stirring comeback at the Reebok Stadium.

What was most compelling about the afternoon though was the size of Sunderland's away following. Take the 5,000 or more from the 12,000 odd at the match and Sunderland's fans were almost as numerous as the home fans, which really underlined how important the FA Cup is to everyone.

Martin O'Neill is to be applauded for fielding a strong team and it almost seems a little harsh that whoever wins tonight will be rewarded, if that's the right word, with a home tie against Everton. If it is to be Sunderland it's arguably one of the hardest draws they could have earned.

However, should they prevail tonight Sunderland will be buoyed and heartened by their performance at Goodison Park earlier in the season and also last season's replay here will still be resonant in everyone's minds.

The 5,000 at Bolton reminded me very much of the similar number of Everton fans ranked behind the goal in the South Stand last season and how they made such a difference on the night in favour of

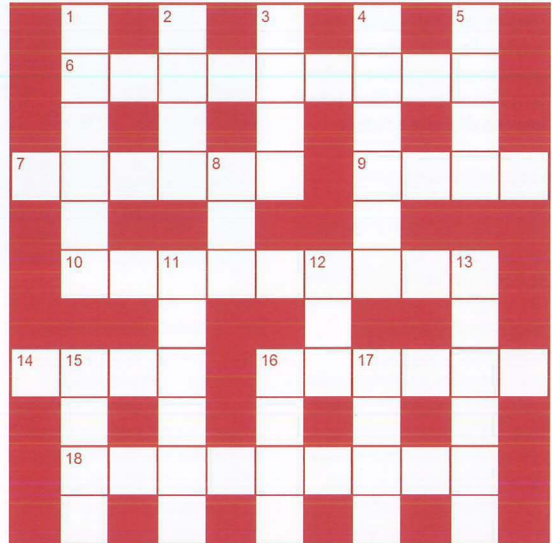

Singing their hearts out for The Lads

Everton. It just goes to show that even though it is a cliché, the crowd can be a 12th man for a team and at the Reebok Stadium the presence of so many really did galvanise the players. It was terrific to see and terrific to hear and if you can get behind the team tonight in a similar fashion there should only be one outcome.

Fingers crossed for a Cup run and remember to call Simon Pryde and Marco Gabbiadini on 'Total Sport' every weeknight on BBC Newcastle from half past 5 to have your say... 0191 232 6565.

ACADEMY & UNDER-21s

Reece Noble scored Sunderland's first goal of the new Qualifying Group One with a penalty at Wolves on Saturday

WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS 1 SUNDERLAND 4 SATURDAY 12TH JANUARY

Sunderland's Academy side eased to victory upon their return from the winter break and got their Qualifying Group One phase off to a flyer, but they had to come from behind to do so.

The hosts nudged ahead against the run of play after 35 minutes through Dominic Dell but all that did was sting Sunderland into action, and they levelled from the spot through Reece Noble after 55 minutes following a foul on Lynden Gooch.

George Honeyman's beautiful run and finish with an hour gone then gave Sunderland the lead and 10 minutes later Tom McNamee was quickest to the ball to make it 3-1 after Mikael Mandron had forced a save. That goal made the game safe and Nathan Thomas then provided the gloss on an encouraging attacking performance with a late screamer from distance.

Sunderland: Dixon, Re Noble, McNamee, Beadling, Lane, Holland, Cartwright (Smith 80), E Robson (Agnew 65), Gooch (Thomas 65), Honeyman, Mandron. Unused: Burke, Burn.

BARRY JACKSON

STATS STORY

IMPACT SUB

Connor Wickham's first ever FA Cup goal in the Reebok tie was the fastest ever by a Sunderland substitute in the competition just edging out by a minute or so Gavin McCann's match-winning effort at Lincoln in January 1999.

Tonight's game comes 10 years and a day since Sunderland and Bolton fought out another Third Round replay with the deadlock eventually broken in extra-time by Julio Arca before Michael Gray's replacement Michael Proctor sealed the win with a second goal.

Fraizer Campbell took just 10 minutes of his long awaited return from injury to equalise against Middlesbrough last January and another scoring substitute almost created the shock of the Third Round 17 years ago at Campbell's first club Manchester United. The eventual double-winners took an early lead but were trailing to strikes from current club masseur Craig Russell and Kevin Ball's replacement Steve Agnew before Eric Cantona levelled late on.

No Sunderland player has ever come off the bench in the FA Cup and scored more quickly than Connor Wickham did at Bolton

The Lads did knock out higher league opposition in 2004 when they defeated Steve Bruce's Birmingham in the Fifth Round with the clubs in opposite leagues to now. The replay at St Andrews was settled in extra-time by Tommy Smith, who came on for Marcus Stewart just passed the hour, and became one of seven players to score twice for the club as a substitute. The Blues fielded future Black Cats Kenny Cunningham, Darren Carter and Stern John.

Kevin Kilbane topped off The Lads' last four-goal performance in the FA Cup at Crystal Palace in 2001, whilst fellow substitute Danny Dichio was sent off in extra-time after two bookings in his short 15-minute cameo.

McCann's winner at Lincoln was his first goal for the club after signing from Everton and he scored just four minutes after he came on for the unfortunate Martin Scott whose ankle injury ended his playing career. Centre-forward Colin West was also an early substitute for an injured defender, Ian Atkins, in the Fourth Round in 1984.

The Lads had beaten Bolton convincingly in the Third Round and hopes were high with the team leading 1-0 through West's header with five minutes to go but Birmingham then scored twice with local boy Mick Harford heading the winner.

Red and White is the official match programme of Sunderland AFC.

Produced by Ignition Publications.

Printed by HPM

RED AND WHITE

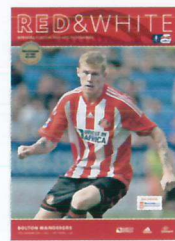

Last season Red and White was named Programme of the Year by Programme Monthly and also won the Soccer Club Swap Shop Programme of the Year Award while coming third in the Northern Programme Club awards.

Since promotion in 2007 Red and White has either been Programme of the Year or runner up in every season. Over the years some awards bodies have been short lived but since 1985-86 your SAFC programme has won 18 Programme of the Year accolades, been runners up eight times and has won 12 other awards.
